FOREWARD

(Name of Institution) is committed to fulfilling its core mandate to offer Technical and Vocational Education and Training up to Diploma level and advise the Government in matters related thereto. In this regard, the Institution has developed a benchmarked Human Capital Policies and Procedures Manual, which is a crucial instrument in an organization. The Human Capital Policies and Procedures Manual gives information on human capital issues, and as such helps in resolving human capital issues and finding solutions which are fair and objective. Indeed, the Institution recognizes that prudent management of its human resource is key to achieving its mission as it provides the foundation for recruiting and retaining competent staff.

To provide a framework for enhanced service delivery, the Institution developed this Human Capital Policies and Procedures Manual to provide guidance on the management of its key resource, the human resource. The manual is intended to inform, guide, and provide an objective way of handling issues between the employer and employee. It provides details of processes that lead to attraction, motivation, retention or exit of staff from the Institution. It is expected that with the manual in place, many routine decisions and transactions will proceed with minimal encumbrance.

The Human Capital Policies and Procedures Manual incorporates provisions of the Constitution, Labour Laws and other legislation that govern various aspects of industrial relations in the Public Service, as well as circulars issued from time to time.

12.15.10 The HOFA (HCM) shall issue the officer with a show cause letter stating the particulars
